Phantom Troupe Member #11 Uvogin (ウボォアギン, Ubagin) was the late #11 of the Phantom troupe, infamous gang of criminals with class rewards. He was the strongest in terms of physical strength in the group. Content show Uvogin's 2011 anime adaptation of Uvogin's 1999 anime adaptation of Uvogin's manga design appearance Uvogin was the tallest and most muscular member of the Phantom Troupe. He had a naughty mane of gray hair, side burns, long, thick eyebrows and rough hair on his shoulders, arms and chest. He had naturally tanned skin. He is dressed in a wild manner, donning bear skins and boots, while at the same time naturally hairy and rarely wearing a shirt. In his youth, Uvo had an Afro. His spider tattoo was located on his back, with number 11 written inside. Gratitude by Uvogin Uvogin was a typical amplifier: resolute, strong head, simple and sometimes disrespectful. He was barbaric, treating even pain simply as a nuisance. Like all members of the Phantom Troupe, Uvogin never hesitated to kill and repented of it. He also liked to kill people who wanted revenge. He was only interested in physical training and combat. He especially liked the fights against experienced opponents, but he usually rushed into battle without a plan. However, despite the fact that he often hurried into battle and fought in a barbaric manner, he was extremely resourceful, being able to defeat three experienced users of Nen (Porcupine, Mad Dog, and Leach), using only his head, after being paralyzed from the neck down. Although he preferred to fight alone, Uvogin became stronger when he fought his partner because he fought better when there was someone else to defend. Uvogin was Nobunag Hazam's best friend and the two brought the best into each other during the fight. Uvogin, like all other members of the Troupe, was absolutely loyal to Hrollo and the ideals of the Spiders. He did not like to carry money around and claims that he absolutely did not use it for him as he stood firm in his belief that one should steal whatever they wanted. He'll remember the people he only killed if they made a heavy impression on him. He was also very punctual and often argued with Nobunago and Franklin about their delays. Von Young Uvogin, along with Feitan, Maki, Franklin, Nobunaga, Pacunoda and Hrollo, was one of the first members of the Ghost Troupe to come from Meteor City, a landfill town inhabited by outcasts who refuse to be part of society. The people who live there do not exist in any official records, and the existence of very few people know in themselves. The manga and anime also states that the original members of the Phantom Troupe had something to do with the bad blood between the mafia and meteors born to the people of The Jungle City. The reason why the Troupe left the city remains a mystery. Later, more members joined the group, in line with Chrollo's idea of a group of exactly thirteen members, including himself. Uvogin first appears with the rest of the Phantom troupe during their meeting in Yorknew City on August 31st, where Chrollo discusses their plans for the day. He tells everyone that they are going to take every item at an underground auction. Uvogin tells Chrollo that if he's serious since they'll have the whole mafia chasing after them if they did it. Hrollo then asks if he is afraid, but Uvogin tells him that he is only excited. The troupe then prepare for the auction. Uvogin, Machi, Feitan, Shalnark, Nobunaga, Shizuku and Franklin will be put up for auction, with the rest behind. The Ghost Troupe arrives at the Underground Auction, and kills all the guests, but they find out that the items are gone. The rest of the troupes are forced to leave empty-handed, and Uvo Chrollo phones about how they could not find the missing items. Uvogin suggests that Judas may be among them, but Hrollo replies that the mafia will have to offer them something they don't yet have, and so there were no auction items, because this time they needed to be more careful. Uvo tells Hrollo that before they killed the auctioneer, he said that one of the Ten Dons sent one of the Shadow Beasts named Owl earlier to get the auction. Chrollo replies that 10 Dons by now must realize they are dealing with Nena, since they are missing their guest at auction, and will most likely send one of the shadows of the beasts after them. Uvo and the rest of the troupe are later appointed to lure out said Shadow of the Beast, by Chrollo, hopefully to find the missing items auctioned. They all head to the Gordo desert and wait for the mafia community to strike. The community that found out where they were offered them a choice. Uvogin tells the others that he will take care of the mafia community and shadow beasts. Uvogin quickly kills all members of the community with ease. Kurapika and the rest of Nostrada's bodyguards watch the massacre from afar, when the four Shadow Beasts and elite soldiers, using Ern under the direct command of the Ten Don Mafia, arrive to deal with the Troupe. Four shady beasts, Worm, Leach, Mad Dog and Porcupine fight Uvo. Uvogin kills Lich Vorm, however, the first person to be killed is Uvo's blow to the Big Bang. Although Uvo kills one of the Shadow Beasts, he allows his guard to let the Mad Dog attack. The rabid dog bites Uvogin, giving him a neurotoxin in the process, soon after it takes effect. The voynine from the neck down. This allows Leach to infect Uvogin with his parasitic leeches (spotted leeches). Uvogin is able to kill Leach while he does so by biting part of his head (being only paralyzed from the neck down). He then kills the Mad Dog, spitting out a small fragment of Leach's skull like a bullet. This leaves one shadow beast alive, attached to its handle. To cope with this, Uvogin releases a loud audible wave from his mouth, killing the porcupine. At this point, Kurapika can take advantage of Uvogin's paralysis and capture him with the help of the Chain Prison Ern, quickly leaving the canyon with other bodyguards. Uvogin is then interrogated by Dazollen to reveal information about the other Spiders. The full strength of Uvogin in his death coincides with Kurapika, which is in the form of the mushroom cloud Uvo, however, is not afraid of the threats of Dazollen and offers him a choice in saving his life. Dazollen rejects Uvogin's proposals and leaves him to die in the hands of the community. Spiders kill the remaining shadow beasts, again masquerade as members of the mafia and save Uvogin, killing Dazollen. Kurapika and other bodyguards escape, leave the base and hide. Seeking revenge on Kurapice for capturing him after a battle with the Shadow Beasts, Uvogin tracks Kurapika to the hotel where Neon Nostrad and the rest of her bodyguards are staying. They agree to fight one-on-one in a small canyon on the outskirts of Yorknew City. At the last moment, Uvogin meets Kurapeak at the specified place, where Kurapika asks him if he remembers Kurta's genocide, although he does not remember. They begin their fight, with Kurapika seemingly able to withstand all his punches. Kurapika eventually captures Uvogin with his Chain Prison, and questions his whereabouts and the abilities of other members of the Ghost Troupe. Uvogin refuses to answer any questions, only begging Kurapeak to kill me. Finally, Kurapika pierces Uvogin's chest with the power of the Court, giving Uvogin a condition that he should honestly answer all questions and promising Uvogin that if he does, Kuratika will allow Uvogin to live at least a little longer. Kurapika once again asks Uvogin about the whereabouts of other members of the troupe, to which Uvogin only smiles and tells him to go to hell. Kurapika's ship chain crushed Uvogin's heart, instantly killing him. Uvogin is buried in an unnamed grave at the site of the battle. His death rattles the rest of the Troupe, especially Nobunaga, so they kill the mafia to avenge their fallen comrade. Equipment Clubs: In the past, when fighting on Nobunaga's side, Uvogin was shown owning two big clubs made of wood. Ability and strength due to the birth of Uvogin in Meteor City, his existence is not recorded in any database, which makes it almost impossible to obtain information about him. Uvogin the strongest body in the Phantom troupe, and is best suited for close-range combat, including against armed crowds. In addition to his terrible muscles and aura, Kurapika defines as one of the pillars of Uvogin's power his unwavering spirit, which allows him to effectively use his aura, regardless of the severity of his conditions. Despite his penchant for self-fighting, he is strong when fighting with a partner, especially against numerous enemies, as it gives him a chance to protect someone. According to Krolu, Uvogin can defeat anyone, but is at a disadvantage against the complex abilities used by manipulators and sorcerers. He doesn't seem to rely on any martial arts, resorting to simple, wide swings that make full use of his muscles and build. Uvegin has a unique ability to tell the time, estimating how much time has passed since his last meal. «Rock Storm» (破岩弾人!! (くらえ), Kurae) Huge power: Uvogin is one of the strongest people in the series, ranking first in armwrestling even in the Phantom Troupe, whose members are endowed with superhuman muscles. It can break a stone, break normal people with swings of hands, and bend the reinforced metal with ease. It only takes one punch for it to kill the average person or weaker Nen users. He can throw stones at a distance of more than one mile, giving them the power of sniper bullets. In addition, it can stop a bullet fired at point-blank range only with his teeth. It can bite the skulls of competent Nen users, and by hitting the ground, it can lift large dust smoke screens, create deep holes or send boulders flying against its enemy. Increased speed and reflexes: Uvegin demonstrated superhuman speed when faced with a mafia, shoed countless of them in just a few minutes. His reflexes are excellent, as he was able to catch a bullet with his teeth and avoid the Kurapika Chain Prison, which can tie his target in 0.5 seconds. Extended agility: Uvogin is able to easily jump from one building to another. Increased strength: Even without the aura, Uvogin's body is stronger than the average that he demonstrated by surviving the beating from Kurapika, while the latter used Ryu or Ko and has his physical strength enhanced by his Scarlet Eyes and The Emperor's Time, although it should be noted that Kurapika was not going to kill him. Improved Stamina: Uvo was able to destroy an army of mafia members and confront the four Shadow Beasts minutes later without breaking a sweat. Later that night, he also fought Kurapika, and his abilities did not seem to have suffered. Improved stamina: Uvogin is very resistant to pain because he didn't react when Kurapika hit his nose hard, possibly breaking it. He could endure a huge beating of the latter without selling his comrades and not fainting. He did not even flinch when Rabid the Dog plucked two pieces of his flesh when the porcupine had intloroor with his hair, and when Leach Doug's wound to insert leech eggs into his flesh. Advanced resistance to toxins: Dalsolen claimed that he had to use a triple dose of muscle relaxant gas to deter him, however, Uvogin was completely awake when Phantom Troupe came to save him and was able to speak normally. However, he suffered from the Raging Dog tranquilizer, and he needed Shizuku to remove the chemicals in his body to move again. He was also able to function normally despite the large amount of beer he consumed. Amateur strategist: Despite preferring to fight frontal, he is able to come up with cunning diversions. He was able to determine the trajectory of the two sniper bullets, and his knowledge of Nena allowed him to conclude that something was turned off about Kurapika's abilities. However, he was easily outsmarted by the latter. Oat Combatant: Uvogin has some skills in combat with his bare hands, although he relies mainly on strength to defeat and crush his opponents. His punches tend to have his full weight behind them, meaning he tends to maximize his strength even if that means leaving a hole for the opponent. He always outsides his partner Nobunaga in an unarmed fight. Because of his powerful armor aura, the chances of him being injured are slim, but his sloppy fighting style forced him to be captured and beaten by Kurapika. Master Thrower: Uvogin demonstrated a high degree of precision by killing two snipers on top of a rocky formation far from him, throwing one stone no more than the palm of his hand at each of them. Ern Uwgin is an amplifier, so he focuses his aura on strengthening his natural abilities and gifts. He uses his great talent to enhance skills to increase his monstrous muscles and elevate his durability to significantly superhuman levels. His aura output is huge, as Kurapika acknowledged. When he overwhelms himself with Ken, Uvogin's body becomes impervious to the most blunt trauma, and even sniper bullets do not affect him. It is also very resistant to heat and explosions. Even anti-tank bazooka are useless. However, there have been cases in which other Nena practitioners managed to injure him, two of whom were members of the Shadow Beasts, while the third was Kurapika's blow when Uvogin was restrained. Later, when Uvogin used only half of his power, even Kurapika's blows during the emperor could not injure him, despite the fact that he had hurt him. Improved cry Uvogin, simply concentrating his aura in his hand and waving it, he can break the ground in front of him and throw stones at the target. Even when he spits on an object, if it feeds off Shu, acquires a huge piercing force, suggesting that he also has some skill in Emission. Uvogin can amplify his voice to let out a scream strong enough to kill an unsuspecting person at close range. Skill improvement also gives him a powerful therapeutic factor that allowed the wounds caused by Raging Dog to stop, in a matter of minutes, if not in a matter of seconds. It can also effectively use Gyo, In, and Ko,4, the latter of which involves the working team of Ten, Ren, Gyo, Zetsu, and Hatsu. Type of Nena Uvogin: Type of Enhancement: Increasing the impact of the Big Bang (超破壊拳 (ビッグバウト), Fist of Destruction) The most powerful attack of Uvogin. He focuses his aura in his fist with Ko and then punches the target. The ability is described as a simple right straight, reinforced by an aura, but, thanks to its skill of improvement and high physical strength, it generates enough force to cause an explosion, rivaling the destructive power of a small rocket. Uvogin's goal was to make it as strong as a nuclear warhead. In the fight against the Shadow Beasts, one Bang Impact created a crater several meters in diameter and destroyed part of the worm's body without direct contact. He also broke Kurapika's hand, despite the fact that the latter was used by Emperor Time. Maki's description of the ability may mean that it can be performed exclusively by the right hand and as a direct hit, which will act as a condition and thus set the Big Bang Impact apart from the usual hit co. Battles with the York Arc: Uvogin vs. Mafia Community† (Desert Gordo) Worm†††, Mad Dog†† and Leach† (Desert Gordo) Just... Be strong. (For shady beasts) I only need to be able to move from my neck up to take care of all of you. Tell Hrollo that I can't go back until I settle the bill with this chain dude. (Schalnark) I never carry cash, unlike you. I steal whatever I want. (Kurapika) I'm impressed. Where do you want to die? I'll let you pick. (Kurapika) What's more powerful? Your offense or me? Bring it on!! (Kurapika) Kill me. (The Last Words of Uvogin) Get lost. Fool. Trivia In the official data log, his name is also written as Vberergin. Anime and Manga Differences In the 2011 anime adaptation, the Uvogin Energy Wave released activating Ren at full power caused the rocky wall behind him to break down. Intertextuality and references should be noted that Uvogin is not the only character created by Togasi to win the fight, using only his head because his body was paralyzed: in YuYu Hakusho, the discreet Kurama defeated Gama, waving his Pink Whip while he was in his hair. The voice of Uvogin in 2011 actor Akio Tsuka also voices Ryder Destiny/Siro, with whom Uvogin has a lot in common. Both characters enjoy battle and destruction. They also have a huge height, size and a fight with a roar. Interestingly, both characters are killed by their hearts, stabbed with both connected supernatural chains. Their killers (Gilgamesh and Kurapika) have blond hair, red-eyed and light-skinned. Uvogin some resemblance to The Little Toguro, another villain in the Togasi yuYu Hakusho series: they are both physically strong members of their gang, they both gradually release their forces and declare the percentage of power they use; and both were killed by people who wanted revenge. Utsuke killed Junior Toguro because he wanted to avenge Genkai, And Kurapika killed Uvogin because he wanted to avenge Kurif's clan. Supposedly, Uvogin is inspired by Yujiro Hanma, the main antagonist of the Baki franchise and the father of the main character Baki Hanma. Both have the same design, dignity and mannerism. Ern Uwgin is an amplifier, so he focuses his aura on strengthening his natural abilities and gifts. He uses his great talent to enhance skills to increase his monstrous muscles and elevate his durability to significantly superhuman levels. His aura output is huge, as Kurapika acknowledged. When he overwhelms himself with Ken, Uvogin's body becomes impervious to the most blunt trauma, and even sniper bullets do not affect him. It is also very resistant to heat and explosions. Even anti-tank bazooka are useless. However, there have been cases in which other Nena practitioners managed to injure him, two of whom were members of the Shadow Beasts, while the third was Kurapika's blow when Uvogin was restrained. Later, when Uvogin used only half of his power, even Kurapika's blows during the emperor could not injure him, despite the fact that he had hurt him. Improved cry Uvogin, simply concentrating his aura in his hand and waving it, he can break the ground in front of him and throw stones at the target. Even when he spits on an object, if it feeds off Shu, acquires a huge piercing force, suggesting that he also has some skill in Emission. Uvogin can amplify his voice to let out a scream strong enough to kill an unsuspecting person at close range. Skill improvement also gives him a powerful therapeutic factor that allowed the wounds caused by Raging Dog to stop, in a matter of minutes, if not in a matter of seconds. It can also effectively use Gyo, In, and Ko,4, the latter of which involves the working team of Ten, Ren, Gyo, Zetsu, and Hatsu. Type of Nena Uvogin: Type of Enhancement: Increasing the impact of the Big Bang (超破壊拳 (ビッグバウト), Fist of Destruction) The most powerful attack of Uvogin. He focuses his aura in his fist with Ko and then punches the target. The ability is described as a simple right straight, reinforced by an aura, but, thanks to its skill of improvement and high physical strength, it generates enough force to cause an explosion, rivaling the destructive power of a small rocket. Uvogin's goal was to make it as strong as a nuclear warhead. In the fight against the Shadow Beasts, one Bang Impact created a crater several meters in diameter and destroyed part of the worm's body without direct contact. He also broke Kurapika's hand, despite the fact that the latter was used by Emperor Time. Maki's description of the ability may mean that it can be performed exclusively by the right hand and as a direct hit, which will act as a condition and thus set the Big Bang Impact apart from the usual hit co. Battles with the York Arc: Uvogin vs. Mafia Community† (Desert Gordo) Worm†††, Mad Dog†† and Leach† (Desert Gordo) Just... Be strong. (For shady beasts) I only need to be able to move from my neck up to take care of all of you. Tell Hrollo that I can't go back until I settle the bill with this chain dude. (Schalnark) I never carry cash, unlike you. I steal whatever I want. (Kurapika) I'm impressed. Where do you want to die? I'll let you pick. (Kurapika) What's more powerful? Your offense or me? Bring it on!! (Kurapika) Kill me. (The Last Words of Uvogin) Get lost. Fool. Trivia In the official data log, his name is also written as Vberergin. Anime and Manga Differences In the 2011 anime adaptation, the Uvogin Energy Wave released activating Ren at full power caused the rocky wall behind him to break down. Intertextuality and references should be noted that Uvogin is not the only character created by Togasi to win the fight, using only his head because his body was paralyzed: in YuYu Hakusho, the discreet Kurama defeated Gama, waving his Pink Whip while he was in his hair. The voice of Uvogin in 2011 actor Akio Tsuka also voices Ryder Destiny/Siro, with whom Uvogin has a lot in common. Both characters enjoy battle and destruction. They also have a huge height, size and a fight with a roar. Interestingly, both characters are killed by their hearts, stabbed with both connected supernatural chains. Their killers (Gilgamesh and Kurapika) have blond hair, red-eyed and light-skinned. Uvogin some resemblance to The Little Toguro, another villain in the Togasi yuYu Hakusho series: they are both physically strong members of their gang, they both gradually release their forces and declare the percentage of power they use; and both were killed by people who wanted revenge. Utsuke killed Junior Toguro because he wanted to avenge Genkai, And Kurapika killed Uvogin because he wanted to avenge Kurif's clan. Supposedly, Uvogin is inspired by Yujiro Hanma, the main antagonist of the Baki franchise and the father of the main character Baki Hanma. Both have the same design, dignity and mannerism.
